Bachelor of Arts in TELEVISION PRODUCTION

For learners who wish to venture into the Television industry, this program will suit their needs. The program is packaged such that graduates will demonstrate competencies in production of television shows and programmes that the industry demands. Among other skill sets, learners are taught to be hands-on, such as in multi-camera TV studios and on-location, using a variety of camera, sound and lighting equipment. They also develop skills and competencies to develop, produce and screen their own programming.

Modules include: Television producing, television writing and post production.

Requirements: BGCSE, IGCSE, O Level or A Level, with minimum credits accumulation of 30 points for self sponsored & 36 for government sponsored students.
